With an increasingly transient population, new clients move to North Carolina and bring community property from their prior states of residence. This presentation provides practical planning tips for clients who own community property and reviews various approaches for dealing with the challenges and opportunities presented by community property imported into a separate property jurisdiction.

Pauloski

Despite an $11.7 million estate tax exclusion, passing a family business on from one generation to the next may be more complicated today than it has ever been. In this compendium of case studies, we discuss how to advise business owners in the current environment. The presenter uses Bernstein’s proprietary wealth forecasting model to test strategic alternatives in four contexts: (i) a young entrepreneur who is planning for a second liquidity event, (ii) two brothers who are trying to decide how to find a buy-sell agreement, (iii) a business owner who would like to transfer his low-cash flowing business to the next generation, and (iv) a real estate entrepreneur who is considering the potential benefits of valuation discounts.

This session addresses recent developments that impact various aspects of special needs planning, including (i) the “network” of special needs trusts that serve as the foundation of a comprehensive Special Needs Estate Plan, (ii) updates to the Program Operational Manual System (POMS) maintained by the Social Security Administration, (iii) the ABLE account as the newest planning tool, and (iv) the SECURE Act and its impact on a special needs trust (SNT) designed to serve as an “eligible designated beneficiary” of retirement benefits. This presentation also highlights continued challenges for practitioners who struggle to assemble the client’s team of “allied professionals” and to address existing trusts that jeopardize the beneficiary’s ongoing eligibility for means-tested government benefits.

9:15 Break

9:25 A Lawyer’s Guide to Understanding Addiction†
Killian

Speaker sponsored by Investors Trust

A recent national landmark ABA study on attorney mental health is the first to ever bring into sharp focus, with hard data and real numbers, the impact that alcohol/drug abuse and other mental health issues are having on the legal profession. The research indicated high rates of depression and anxiety among lawyers, as well as a substance abuse rate approximately twice that of the general population. This presentation seeks to improve our understanding of substance abuse, the dynamics of addiction and the susceptibility of lawyers to this disorder. Hear about the neurological nature of substance abuse/addiction, including the development, symptomology and behavioral impact. Attendees also receive guidance and suggestions for dealing with a substance use disorder in themselves or other legal professionals.

10:25 Break

10:35 From Gift-Splitting to Hair-Splitting:
Improving Your Odds in the Audit Lottery
Kaufman

Featured speaker sponsored by Brown Brothers

Meticulous preparation of the gift tax return can reduce the odds of being selected for audit. Learn how to properly report annual exclusion gifts, charitable gifts and gifts to 529 accounts. Then walk through how to make flawless elections for gift-splitting, qualified terminable interest property trusts (QTIPs) and generation-skipping tax (GST) issues. This practical session gives insight on the use of adequate disclosure to obtain certainty in valuation cases as well as “non-gifts” and offers tips to avoid traps in the preparation of gift tax returns.

12:20 Top Technology Trends and Developments
Practitioners Should Be Aware of in an Estate
Planning/Estate Administration Practice‡
Roebuck and Smith

Speakers sponsored by National Christian Foundation and Old North State Trust

Technological apathy is real. Failure to stay abreast of the latest trends and developments doesn’t just impact efficiency, but also opens one up to the risks and dangers associated with a lack of technical competence, which is the minimum level of proficiency a lawyer is duty-bound to maintain. This session explores the top 5-10 new tech tools and other useful resources to help all legal professionals be more than just technologically competent but become more proficient and productive in their daily practice.

1:20 Break

1:30 From Picking the Fight to Ending It: Important Considerations When Navigating an Estate or Trust Dispute

Moye

Speaker sponsored by South Park Advisors LLC and Trust

Traditional estate planning and administration attorneys, as well as civil trial lawyers, are increasingly holding themselves out as fiduciary litigators and taking contested estate and trust cases. This presentation addresses some necessary considerations and a few common misunderstandings about estate and trust disputes.
